

On 14 February 2014, the Malaysian Accounting Standards Board ("MASB") announced that the current Private Entity Reporting Standards ("PERS") will be replaced with the Malaysian Private Entities Reporting Standard ("MPERS"). All private entities are required to apply the MPERS for its financial statements with reporting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2016, with early application permitted.

Why you should attend

This seminar aim to highlight the general differences between PERS and MPERS, and to provide application guidelines on how to transit from PERS to MPERS. Extensive examples and implementation guidance will be used throughout the seminar.

We aim to help participants understand the requirements of a first-time adopter to MPERS. Participants will learn what is permitted, and what is prohibited when selecting an entity's initial accounting policies in accordance with the MPERS.

At the end of the course, participants can expect to be able to:

- Learn the requirement of Section 1 to 35 of MPERS, and recognise the changes made by MASB for adoption of MPERS in Malaysia;
- Gain a good working knowledge of important MPERS to enable an understanding of the principles relevant and important to their business;
- Get a sound understanding of the application of the selected MPERS in accounting and financial reporting;
- Understand the requirements for transitioning to MPERS, including exemptions and exceptions provided by the Standard and dealing with the impact of re-measurements;
- Get an insight into the preparation of financial statements in accordance with MPERS including transitional requirements
